Profile

I am a skilled and experienced camera operator and editor based in Manchester. I own a range of kit and possess a full, clean UK driver's license.

Since graduating with a filmmaking degree from the Manchester School of Art in 2011, I have gained extensive industry experience as a freelancer; specialising in promotional films, music videos and live events. I have also worked on productions for BBC television, gained four years of graphic design experience for Dulwich College London and since 2014 I have been the resident filmmaker at design agency United Creatives.

I have produced work for a diverse range of clients such as BrewDog, Raspberry Pi, Scribner, Compass Box Whisky Co., Sounds From The Other City and the NHS. My music video work has premiered on major websites such as Pitchfork, Stereogum, VEVO, NME, Spin and many others.

As a freelance filmmaker, I am involved with each stage of development, from conceptualising ideas and pre-production through to editing, colour grading and delivery. As such, I have good experience coordinating and filming large and small scale live events, shooting and lighting for green screen and studio environments, as well as sound recording, conducting interviews and organising equipment rental.

I love being part of a team and pride myself on making lasting, personable relationships with clients and colleagues alike.

Kit Experience

I am comfortable with most digital cinema cameras, such as the Red Epic, Canon C300/C100/DSLR, Sony F55 and FS7 and the Blackmagic Design Cinema range. I also have experience with a range of lenses, grip, and audio recording equipment.

Equipment list available on request.
