About me

This year I completed my first hour long documentary, which i wrote, co-produced, shot and directed, all while at the same time balancing my teaching position. Following that project I have been creating promotional films, short fictions and operating as an independent photographer.

Regarding my photography, so far this year I have been shortlisted in the D&AD Next Photographer Awards and the Arts Gemini Prize.

For years I have been passionately honing my journalistic and artistic skills in order to do the stories I tell justice. I hope my current achievements are evidence of that.
