About

I have filmed and edited work for clients ranging from international corporations to SME's. I have a strong background in collaborating with clients to help build their brand in video production and deliver their content, managing it from pre to post production.

I have a strong passion in delivering great videos for business and I'm always looking to help bring the next project to life!

Experience

Freelance Filmmaker
UK Nationwide, based in North East

2013–Present

During my time as a freelance filmmaker I have completed work for clients ranging from multi-million pound organisations to enabling local start-ups in need of video content. This journey has provided me invaluable skills and experience in creating bespoke content for a variety of budget levels, helping guide the client through pre and post production while ensuring their vision is translated to screen.

As the power of the internet begins to allow all companies to be seen, I provide state of the art filmmaking equipment to all jobs, investing heavily in both camera technology and a superfast editing machine, allowing me to seamlessly edit and deliver in 4K for all clients.
