GCSE results: 9/A* in English language (top 1.8% of country), A* in Media Studies, A in English Literature, Physics, Religious Studies and History
A Level results: A in English Literature, A in Media Studies, B in Philosophy and Ethics

Volunteering/community:

I went on the World Challenge Expedition to Morocco in July 2017 where I was involved in one weeks volunteering where I built a retaining wall to prevent flooding at a primary school just outside of Marrakesh. Other activities ranged from managing a set budget for the three weeks I was in country, hiring local workers, booking hotels over the phone and maintaining my horse's wellbeing and health during a four day horse trek in Essaouira. It is also worth noting that the trip was fundraised by myself, for the grand sum of £2,800, which was then used to pay for the various things as labelled above.

Child safety:

Through my time spent working at Manland after school club I applied for and now have an active DBS and completed child safeguarding course, allowing me to work with children.

Skills

I believe I am a hard working, driven individual who, when my mind is set on something, will do everything I can to complete a task. I have good communication skills, work well with others aswell as on my own, and recognise the importance in listening over talking. I am someone who learns quickly on their feet, but most of all am an individual with a deep seated passion for film and all things put onto a screen, wanting very much to become involved with the industry in any way I can.
