ABOUT ME

A born-and-bred Bristolian Producer with a love for turning chaos into creativity, I thrive on the buzz of a fast-paced set. Whether wrangling logistics or handling curveballs in production, I'll get us from A to B with plenty of laughs along the way. Recently, I've launched my own Bristol-based production company, Parker Rose Productions, where we mix passion with a proper West Country work ethic.

I'm all about pushing the boundaries and constantly finding ways to do better because, let's face it, there's always room to grow. From leading a team to flying solo on tricky tasks, I'm up for the challenge. Like Robin Williams once said, "Words and ideas can change the world"—and I believe that's exactly what we're here to do.
