Profile

Hi there, I'm a 25-year-old Freelance photographer and Film production student, working through my third year at CCCU. I took my time coming to Uni and ended up working for some excellent companies in the 3 years before I moved here. They have helped me gain the skills required to work in a high paced environment whilst still remaining focused on my tasks and surrounding team members.

My end goal is to Write and Direct, I know it's a long journey and I also know with little experience outside of student films and self-made projects I'm far from ready, but my ambition and creativity are enough to keep me persistent. For now, I'm looking for any on set work, ideally something between Runner and 1st AD that I can dive right in to. My availability is everyday other than 9-12 on Thursday and Friday mornings, but that will change in January.

I recently finished working for the video production company V21 as one of their lead videographers. This position meant organising kit, shooting both on site and in office, doing editing when it was needed, meeting clients, working well under pressure and planning scripts for each day's production along with having extensive knowledge of the cameras we worked with and making sure my composition was the best it could be.

Skills

- 10 years' experience in Photoshop, 8 in Premiere pro, 4 in Audition and After effects
- Flexible approach to work and willingness to learn new skills
- I find film comes very naturally to me, like a second language
- I have a high process work ethic, once I start I don't tend to stop
- Reliable and trustworthy
- Effective communication at many levels, public and work colleagues alike
- Creative and thought provoking

Linked below are 2 separate short videos created for practice and the third is a music video shot for the Indie band Raffer back in 2011. The gig was unpaid but the thrill of the first experience shooting live was plenty enough for me.
