Summary

Since graduating from university, I started up a small production company with fellow graduates in order to use our skills to make our own way in the industry, working on projects ranging from event coverage, corporate and music videos. I also spent 7 months working with an MFA student at Leeds Beckett University writing a short film which was shot on location in the Faroe Islands. I pride myself on my creativity and my ability to work to a brief, as well as taking criticism on board as I thrive on working collaboratively.

Education

2016-2019: Leeds Beckett University (Northern Film School), Filmmaking, 2:1

Positions Held

2019– Present: Co-Director, Ocularo LTD

As Co-Director, my responsibilities include liaising with clients, managing social media, as well as managing payments. I am also present on many of the film shoots, either as camera operator or cinematographer, as well as making sure we are creating a product the client will be happy with. Our clients include Manchester City Council as well as their sub-division of Manchester Libraries, PeoplePlus Enterprises, The Yard Manchester as well as their resident music producers Boxyard Studios, and various other independent clients. Through this I have also worked closely with Enterprising You, running a course teaching small business owners to create short content for their social media channels and help them feel more confident on camera.

Writing Credits

2020- “Where Do We Go?”, Northern Film School, Dir. Barbara Lervig

Won Audience and Main Film awards at Geytin 2021, along with being screened at the PÖFF Shorts Festival 2021 and Indie Shorts Awards Cannes 2022.
