I have spent the last twenty years working as a Fashion Stylist, Wardrobe Supervisor, and Costume Designer for TV and Film. I've had the opportunity to collaborate with popular editorial titles like GQ, Hello, and Grazia, taking part in challenging and rewarding high-end shoots alongside talented photographers, agencies, and models. I have a keen eye for detail and clothing expertise, which led me to expand into the world of Film and TV, working with exceptional Directors, Crew, and production companies. As a costume designer I thrive in creating character looks, managing multiple cast members, and coordinating with other creative individuals and departments. I am personable, professional, and hardworking, with a strong ability to manage teams effectively. I prioritize fostering a positive, diverse, and productive working environment for my team and peers, which has helped me build and maintain valuable professional relationships. I have successfully led wardrobe teams in handling large crowds of actors for a broad range of productions, while effectively managing budgets and tight deadlines.

Flexibility, reliability, and organization are second nature to me, and patience and a good sense of humour are crucial in this industry.
