I am a recent graduate from Bristol based film school; Screenology. Over the three year course I gained a lot of experience working in various aspects of film. I found on set management roles to be the most interesting and exciting and am now looking for an entry level position in the industry to help kickstart my career.

I spend a lot of my free time writing scripts and Prose and also drawing and painting portraiture. Since graduating, I have continued pushing to write and direct my own independent work.
