

DAVID JOHN FARRUGIA

Filming in England

A motivated, reliable, and enthusiastic professional. After completing my Bachelor degree I am ready to start a new chapter of my career and join a dynamic team focusing on content that connects with and strengthens communities. I have learned a diverse skill set which has given me the confidence to take on new challenges. I am approachable and used to working in high pressure situations individually and with a team. My studies have laid a solid foundation and I am now eager and excited for the next chapter in my film and media career.
