I am a 2023 TV Production grad from Bournemouth University looking for entry-level roles in scripted television. I have recently just finished production on my debut comedy short film which I wrote and directed. This was a completely independent project created with passion and hard work alongside my full time job outside of TV. I believe I would be a valuable asset to any employer who would give me the opportunity due to my positivity, willingness to learn, and genuine passion for Comedy TV.
