

AMAN BOPARAI

Art Department Assistant

PERSONAL PROFILE

I have been working as an architectural assistant within the hospitality sector in central London for the past year which has allowed me develop my coordination skills as well as software development. Additionally, working on large-scale projects worldwide has broadened my skills in adapting to cliental, context, budgets and time frame and learning to work on large, changing teams as well as individually.

I am interested in becoming an art department assistant due to my transferable skills in not only softwares and traditional art but also my communication and reliability. In addition my interest in the design of space and physical creation of an idea is greatly suited for the role, plus my innate passion for a screen
