

ETHAN COULDREY

Production Assistant and Script Reader

PROFILE

Ethan Couldrey has had a keen interest in film and media since an early age when he discovered his love for Science Fiction and movie making. Ethan is highly motivated and has achieved a number of educational goals despite missing large portions of schooling due to hospitalisation. Ethan has always overcome every obstacle in his path to ensure he can achieve all his key objectives to enable him to prepare for a successful career in media. Ethan has recently concluded his degree at the University of Worcester studying Film Production and Screenwriting where he was awarded a First. During this course Ethan has written many short films and TV show with two other writers. He has also Script edited for younger students and worked with brand research, redrafting a script to a specification and pitching his ideas. Getting accepted onto the Create Central Scripted Drama Bootcamp, delivered by University of Birmingham has really allowed Ethan to hone his skills. As part of the placement, in March 2023, Ethan shadowed Script Editor, Adam Lebovits on Kudos/Steven Knight's THIS TOWN. Ethan also shadowed Script Supervisor, Rachel Crawford on location in Birmingham. Ethan is now looking for work as a script reader.
