I am a freelance media professional specialising in presenting, podcast production, social media, and live event commentary. I have worked with the FEI (the international governing body of equestrian sport) as a Social Media Producer and have also provided voice-overs for FEI highlights shows. Alongside this, I commentate and present for ClipMyHorse.tv, FEI.TV and many others, covering major equestrian competitions.

Previously, I was the Producer and Host of the EquiRatings Eventing Podcast, where I managed podcast and social media content, produced engaging audio shows, and ran the EquiRatings Eventing Manager app.

I have been riding since the age of four and have competed in British Eventing, Show Jumping, and Dressage up to CCI2* level. I began eventing commentary in 2015 and was named British Eventing South West Young Volunteer of the Year in 2017.

Although most of my experience is in the Equestrian world, my skills can transfer to any other sport or entertainment and I would be delighted to work on any project.
