About

I am a Manchester-based graphic designer specialising in graphic props for the TV and film industry. I have a passion for detail and love period design, pattern and illustration. I am able to design, make or re-produce both period and contemporary graphics to your specification and will also take on any photography requirements photographing a wide range of subjects from buildings for scenic backdrops to still life for product images to portraits for period photographs. I have over 10 years experience working up the ladder in the art department from assistant to art director and everything else in between. My experience has taught me about the nature of the industry from tight budgets, last minute job 'urgency' to the necessity for flexibility, professionalism and above all the ability to deliver.
