GBCT and ACO member, Richard, is a very experienced film and digitally trained Camera Operator working on a variety of film and television drama productions, as well as commercials. Over the years, he has worked his way up from camera trainee to loader to focus puller to Camera Operator and is also called upon to DoP/Operate on second units for television dramas and Features. Richard has an exceptional good eye for shot composition and has considerable experience of using geared and remote heads as well as cranes. He is also comfortable with devising hand-held sequences and using Ronin 2's and Easy Rig. Because of his knowledge of camera operating, Richard was selected to be one of the tutors on the Screen Skills/GBCT training course for military personnel transferring their skills across to the film business ('Help for Heroes') - in this case, for the ex-soldiers to learn the basics of camera self-operating and how to become a Grip and Crane Technicians.
