Profile

I am a freelance cameraman and also direct, produce and edit whole projects which come into my production company. In my spare time I write and direct short films and am currently working on a feature project. My camera work with Brighton & Hove Albion regularly gets broadcasted on the BBC through the Football League show every Saturday night. I am also training in advanced colour grading with DaVinci Resolve.

Recent Work History

Brighton Albion F.C. July11- Present Cameraman

I work as cameraman in a large team, producing broadcast coverage of each home match. I also produce both highlights and live streams of Brighton Albion women's matches on a one cam shoot.

Kelly Images Mar10-Present Creative Director

I produce short one minute adverts for local businesses in the Sussex area along with any other video based work which might come in. Usually this includes adverts, training videos and corporate films along with occasional music video and live performance jobs.

Indiecan Jan12-Nov13 Director

I created and directed a pilot series of a show called Indiecan. The show was about the Independent film industry in the U.K. Indiecan is expected to be broadcasted on three local channels by the Autumn of 2014.

PowerUp Productions Jan11-Present Cameraman

I work for PowerUp as a freelance cameraman shooting live MMA fight shows and Muay Thai events. Some of this footage is often used by both Eurosport and Sky Sports in their magazine shows.

Relevant Education

Brighton Film School Sep08-Jun09 Film Production

I studied all the technical aspects of filmmaking such as lighting, sound and cinematography. Along side this we also studied film theory and pre-production.

University of Brighton Sep05-Jun08 Visual Art Degree

I studied a Bachelor of Arts degree with Honours in Visual Art which involved short film making, photography and installations.
